The former Holiday Inn, which is in the process of renovation, reopened last summer as a design-driven boutique hotel called the Hotel Arts.

Four Road Trips With Something for All in the Family

By NANCY M. BETTER
July 10, 2005

The best family trips skip Interstate highways in favor of offbeat, interesting routes; involve less car time and more recreational time; and include a broad range of sights and activities.

BUSINESS TRAVEL: ON THE GROUND -- IN CALGARY

In Calgary, a Bit of the Wild West

By BERNARD SIMON

November 25, 2003

Calgary, Canada's energy and beef capital, is one of the country's fastest-growing cities - with traffic congestion to match.

Canada by Train: Traveling Like a Magnate

By ADAM CLYMER

September 23, 2001

On a vintage train crossing the Canadian Rockies, the décor is almost as sumptuous as the scenery.

In Canada, a Clothing Company Tries On an Airline

By RANDY KENNEDY

March 18, 2001

WHEN Americans see the word "Roots" with a capital R, they tend to think of Kunta Kinte or the Bob Marley song. Canadians think of other things. Like tie-dyed sheets, dippy-looking ...
